

■ Above: Nisha Chettri (far left), a former sex slave, works at a border patrol seven days a week, stopping rickshaws and other vehicles carrying young Nepalese girls whom she suspects are being trafficked.

■ Right: Anuradha Koirala (left), the founder of rescue organization Maiti Nepal, takes care of recently rescued sex slaves.

